

next.app

Tone of Voice

Building a brand voice from scratch

WHAT I DID

Developed the tone-of-voice system for next.app as part of its launch, defining the brand personality, audience segments, messaging pillars and practical writing principles for an international technology audience. A key challenge was creating one voice that could feel credible and relevant across Flutter, Android and Kotlin developers, while also welcoming AI and gaming developers into the wider ecosystem.

WHERE IT RAN

The system was created for use across next.app's brand and marketing ecosystem as part of its international launch — from messaging and campaign communications to community-facing content.

WHAT HAPPENED

The work became the foundation for how the new brand communicated across audiences and channels, alongside the wider positioning, identity and go-to-market work I led. It translated a broad, multi-ecosystem technology audience into a clear, human and recognisable voice.

THE CHALLENGE

Make a new umbrella brand feel sharp enough for experienced engineers, accessible enough for emerging developers, and broad enough to bring different mobile, AI and gaming communities into the same ecosystem.

Tone of Voice

next.app
devcon

Who is next.app ?

Next.app is the new umbrella brand that will unify droidcon (Android), Fluttercon, and new mobile development and tech leadership events worldwide. Our vision is to become the world's largest and most influential mobile development and engineering leadership platform.

A fresh ecosystem-first platform made for builders, creators, and tech leaders shaping the future of mobile — across languages, platforms, and devices.

Brand Personality

Trait	Description
Playfully Smart	Confident but not arrogant. Think of a sharp-witted dev at a happy hour who's excited about solving hard problems — not lecturing you.
Future-Obsessed	We're not here to celebrate the status quo. We're looking ahead, experimenting, breaking stuff and rebuilding it better.
Inclusive & Human	We speak with people, not at them. Beginners or senior leads, all feel welcome here.

Who are we talking to?

Audience	What they want	What we say
Mobile Devs	Deep dives, bleeding-edge tech, tools that work	“Less fluff. More code. Actual takeaways.”
Engineering Leads	Strategy, culture, real solutions	“Talks that help you lead better, not just code harder.”
Young Devs	Energy, opportunity, fun, relevance	“No gatekeeping. Just good tech, good people, good vibes.”
Tech Execs / CTOs	Trends, ROI, ecosystems, emerging platforms	“The future of mobile? It’s already here. Let’s shape it together.”

Tone of Voice Pillars

Bold

Forward

Conversational

Inclusive

Bold

- No stiff suits here. Just sharp minds, real conversations.
- We stand for change and say it clearly.

Forward

- We're obsessed with what's next, not what's safe.
- We know our audience codes. So we speak builder.

Conversational

- We speak like people — not documentation.
- We use vivid language and real-world references to stick in your mind.

Inclusive

- All ecosystems welcome. You belong here. Curious, Not Clickbaity.
- We spark curiosity by hinting at what's behind the curtain.

How We Talk to Our Community

Dos

- Ask questions: “What do you want from your dev community?”
- Use inclusive language: “Whether you build in Dart, Kotlin, Swift, or something we haven’t seen yet.”
- Sound like a real human, not a speaker submission form.

Don'ts

- Assume their age or background.
- Talk down to juniors or over-pander to seniors.

Core Identity Keywords

Future

Ecosystem

Platform

Builder

Community

Mobile-first

Modern

Code

Dev culture

Tone & Personality Keywords

Cheeky

Sharp

Inclusive

Curious

Honest

Forward

Straight-talking

Playful

Fresh

BERLIN BITES

Brand & Editorial Platform

Building a food brand from the ground up

WHAT I DID

Created Berlin Bites as a new food and culture platform for The Berliner, developing the positioning, personality, visual language, editorial strategy and social content system from the ground up. I defined the recurring formats, content architecture and voice to make the platform feel like journalism rather than influencer content.

WHERE IT RAN

Built for The Berliner's digital and social ecosystem in Berlin, with the Berlin Bites account established and ready for rollout.

WHAT HAPPENED

I took the idea from an initial editorial concept into a tangible brand platform, including the account, identity and repeatable content system. The full rollout is currently awaiting budget.

THE IDEA

A food platform with the instincts of a newsroom: culturally curious, visually distinctive, useful and opinionated — built to give Berlin's food scene a voice beyond the standard influencer playbook.

AUG 26, 2026

PRESENTED BY KATRINA ROSE WIND

BERLIN BITES

[01] BRAND PERSONALITY

[02] LOGO/ COLOUR PALETTE

[03] VISUAL DIRECTION

[04] PHOTOGRAPHY DIRECTION

[05] GRAPHIC SYSTEM

[06] TEMPLATE STRUCTURE

[06] STORIES STRUCTURE

[07] REELS

(01)BP

Editorial

It should look like journalism, not influencer content.

Urban

Berlin should be visible in the visual language.

Witty

There should be room for humour and opinion.

Tactile

Food should feel physical: crumbs, hands, paper, steam, messy tables.

Unfussy

No excessive gradients, illustrations, stickers, emojis or trendy Canva effects.

COLOUR

Colour	HEX	Use
Ink Black	#111111	Main backgrounds, headlines, logo
Warm Paper	#F5F1E8	Primary light background
Bites Red	#F04432	Accent, labels, prices, underlines
Pure White	#FFFFFF	Photography backgrounds, contrast
Soft Black	#1C1C1C	Secondary black / photography overlays
Warm Grey	#D8D3C8	Dividers, subtle backgrounds
Butter Yellow	#E8C547	Occasional food-related accent
Pickle Green	#69734A	Occasional secondary accent

(02) LOGO

THE BERLINER / BITES

The relationship should be obvious at first glance.

Simple “B” bite mark.

visual device you can use on:

- Reels
- Story templates
- profile picture
- photo corners
- stickers
- merch eventually
- article graphics

(03) VISUAL DIRECTION

Every Bites graphic should have: ONE BIG IDEA.

ONE photograph
ONE headline
ONE piece of information

e.g.

THE DISH
THE BEST THING
WE ATE THIS WEEK
[huge photograph]
€12 · KREUZBERG

Photography direction:

Flash.
Especially for restaurants.
Direct flash.
Hard shadows.
Slightly imperfect.
Close.
Physical.
Human.

The Berliner Bites shouldn't look like every other polished food account. It should feel like Berlin at night.

I'd establish a rough photography ratio:

40% food
25% people
20% places
15% details

So a restaurant story might include:

Exterior, Chef, Dish, Hands making it, Dining room, Dish close-up, Bill, Street outside.

That gives you an actual story, not a catalogue.

PHOTOGRAPHY DIRECTION

THE VIBE

Candid, real, unpolished, in the moment.

Direct flash.

Restaurant lighting.

Raw but intentional.

WHAT WE CAPTURE

Food, people, places,
details, moments,
streets, everything
that makes Berlin
food culture alive.

THE GOAL

It should feel like you're there.
Like a friend just sent you this.
That's the Bites
point of view.

(04) GRAPHIC SYSTEM

SIX MASTER TEMPLATES

TEMPLATE 01 — THE DISH

Cream background.
Huge serif headline.
Small red Bites mark.
Photograph underneath.

TEMPLATE 02 — NEW IN Black background.

Cream type.
Red date/label.

TEMPLATE 03 — €10 OR LESS

Make the price enormous.
€8.50
Small:
THE LUNCH WE'D
ACTUALLY RECOMMEND

TEMPLATE 04 — HOT TAKE

Pure typography.
No photograph.
Cream background.
Black serif.
Tiny red Bites logo.

Small:
Agree? Disagree?

TEMPLATE 05 — ORDER THIS

Photography-led.
Huge: ORDER THIS Then:
At: XXX
Get: XXX
Don't leave without: XXX

TEMPLATE 06 — THE LIST

Editorial carousel.
5 PLACES FOR A VERY GOOD
SUNDAY LUNCH
Then each slide:
01 restaurant dish
price neighbourhood
one-sentence recommendation.

TEMPLATE 01

— THE DISH

THE BERLINER BITES

MANI IN PASTA

A NEUKÖLLN SPOT SERVING SOME OF
THE BEST PASTA IN BERLIN.

NEUKÖLLN

€12 HOUSE PASTA
CHANGES DAILY

KIENITZER STR. 101
12049 BERLIN

TUE – SUN
6PM – LATE

SAVE THIS ONE.

TEMPLATE 03 — CHEAP BITES

€10 OR LESS

€8.50

THE LUNCH WE'D ACTUALLY RECOMMEND

KREUZBERG

€8.50

THE LUNCH WE'D ACTUALLY RECOMMEND

PHO 73
WEDDING, BERLIN

€8.50

THE LUNCH WE'D ACTUALLY RECOMMEND

KREUZBERG

TEMPLATE 04 — HOT TAKE

THE LAST CHEAP TABLE

GREAT FOOD.
LOW PRICES.
STILL EXISTS.

WEDDING

BERLIN DOES NOT NEED ANOTHER NATURAL WINE BAR.

DISCUSS.

TEMPLATE 05 — ORDER THIS

TEMPLATE 06 — THE LIST

CAROUSEL STRUCTURE

01 HOOK / COVER

THE BERLINER BITES

THE DISH

THE PASTA WORTH
CROSSING BERLIN FOR

NEUKÖLLN

→

02 HERO SHOT

MANI IN PASTA
NEUKÖLLN

€12

03 THE STORY

A PLATE OF PASTA THAT HITS DIFFERENT.

Mani in Pasta is tiny, loud,
and always full.
They change the menu daily,
but the pasta is always the reason to come.

Honest food. Big flavour.
No gimmicks.

SAVE THIS ONE.

04 THE VIBE

THE VIBE

No reservations.
No fuss.
Just really good food and wine.

05 EXTRA DETAIL

DON'T SKIP
The sando if it's on.

06 LIST / GUIDE

WHAT TO ORDER

- 01 THE DAILY PASTA
Always a good idea.
- 02 THE SANDO
Crispy, juicy, messy.
- 03 WHATEVER THEY POUR
Natural wines only.
- 04 TIRAMISÙ
Simple. Perfect.

07 DRINKS / PAIRING

TO DRINK

Natural wines that actually make sense with food.

08 FOOD DETAIL

ALWAYS CHANGING.
Always good.

09 INFO / DETAILS

THE DETAILS

WHERE Mani in Pasta
Kienitzer Str. 101
12049 Berlin

WHEN Tue – Sun
6PM – Late

PRICE
Pasta €11 – €14
Sandwich €9 – €12

SAVE
So you don't forget.

10 CLOSING / CTA

THE BERLINER BITES

BERLIN
ONE BITE AT A TIME.

FOLLOW FOR MORE

→

OVERVIEW — INSTA GRID

STORIES: A MORE IMMEDIATE, INTERACTIVE FOOD DESK

Stories should feel more spontaneous and conversational than the feed. Rather than simply repurposing articles, they can act as a real-time extension of The Berliner Bites food desk.

A simple Bites visual frame would create consistency while leaving room for photography, polls, questions and quick recommendations.

The goal is for Stories to feel like the food editors talking directly to Berlin, creating a space for recommendations, conversation and audience participation rather than another static magazine page.

Examples:

TODAY IN BERLIN FOOD

What just opened, what we're eating and what you need to know.

WOULD YOU PAY €19 FOR THIS?

[YES] [ABSOLUTELY NOT]

WHERE SHOULD WE EAT NEXT?

[Question box]

ORDER THIS

A quick recommendation from the Bites team.

NEW IN MITTE

One new opening, with the key details.

STORY TEMPLATES

Berlin has a lot
of good sandwiches.
This is the one we're still thinking about.

0:06–0:09
VOICEOVER

Hook the viewer.
Give them a reason to care.

0:09–0:12
MORE ACTION

Show how it's made.
Keep it tactile.

0:15–0:17
THE BITE

The reaction.

It's messy, €9,
and absolutely worth
the trip to Neukölln.

0:17–0:19
VOICEOVER

Why it matters.

REELS

THE BERLINER BITES IN MOTION

A recognisable opening

Every Reel would begin with a consistent Bites title card:

- Black or deep charcoal background
- Small THE BERLINER BITES identifier
- Large cream condensed typography
- Red accent
- Bites logo
- One clear editorial category
-

Visual language would be direct, tactile and observational.

Think:

- Hands preparing food
- Chefs working
- A dish arriving at the table
- Someone taking the first bite
- Busy restaurant rooms
- Bakery counters at 7 a.m.
- Market stalls
- Street scenes
- Close-ups of ingredients
- Bills and prices
- Conversations with chefs
- The reality of eating in Berlin

REPEATABLE REEL FRANCHISES

The strength of the format would come from creating recognisable editorial series, rather than inventing a new concept for every video.

THE BERLINER BITES

The Berliner Bites should have a personality slightly different to the magazine itself. Bites should feel like the person who has lived here long enough to know that the best meal isn't necessarily the newest restaurant.

I'd make the voice:

smart + curious + slightly irreverent + informed + hungry

Instead of:

"5 restaurants to try this weekend."

Say:

Five places worth leaving your flat for this weekend.

Bon Appetit's strength is its editorial authority and personality.

Its current restaurant coverage isn't simply "here are 13 good restaurants." Its editors explain why particular dishes stayed with them and what made them exceptional. Its 2026 Best New Restaurants coverage explicitly treats the dish as the fundamental unit of judgment.

That is very transferable to Berlin.

THANK YOU *

